By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Word that Russia has fired two new nuclear test shots, touched off speculation here today that the disarmament issue will soon land back in the General Assembly's lap.

Diplomats were plunged in gloom by the new tests. Delegates felt the turn of events menaced the future of the Big Three Geneva negotiations which are not going to well anyway. The parity is supposed to seek East-West agreement on a supervised ban on tests and report back to the General Assembly.

There appeared no immediate move to bring Russia's new testing before the Assembly. Secretary of State Dulles indicated in Washington that the United States does not plan to seek U.N. condemnation of the Soviets at this stage.

If all three big powers resume testing, diplomats fear it will bring the Geneva talks to a speedy close and toss the issue back to the Assembly.

Delegates admit that Russia has no legal obligation to refrain from testing, but many consider it an act of bad faith to do so while the Geneva parity is in progress.

Wreck Blamed on Failure to Obey Signals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission said today a failure to obey signals caused the plunge of a Jersey Central commuter train into Newark Bay Sept. 15. The engineer and 47 others died.

The commission recommended that Central Railroad Co. of New Jersey equip the bay bridge at Elizabeth, N.J., with either an automatic speed-control or automatic train-stop system.

In September's disaster, the report said the train was speeding up after going by a restricted speed signal and then passed a stop sign.

"It is very probable," the ICC said, "that if movements over the bridge had been protected by an automatic train-stop system, any of the many types now in service, the accident would have been averted."

In line with a final autopsy report by the Jersey City Medical Center, the commission said the engineer, Lyle Wilburn, 63, of Redbank, N.J., died of drowning.

Preliminary autopsy by Hudson County authorities shortly after Wilburn's body which had been recovered from his sunken locomotive, resulted in a finding that he apparently had a heart attack and died as his train raced toward the lift span of the bridge. The lift had been opened to permit passage of a ship.

The fireman, Peter Andrew, 42, of Jersey City, died of multiple fractures and lacerations resulting from the plunge into the bay, the federal investigators reported.

The commission report said the eastbound early morning train entered the bridge approaches traveling between 32 and 41 m.p.h., passed a signal and then was thrown off the tracks by an automatic derailing apparatus 490 feet from the open lift span.

Despite the derailing, the train continued its forward movement on the ties. The locomotive and first two cars plunged off the bridge and disappeared into the bay. The third car hit a piling and went off its front end and submerged.

This car fell into the channel about two hours later. Two rear cars remained on the bridge.

The investigators said an examination indicated some crew members made an emergency brake application after the train was derailed but this was too late to stop the train short of the open span.

The report said the brakes were tested and found to be functioning properly on the morning of the accident and also when the train made its stop at Elizabethport.

Awards Given Out to Cub Pack 92

In a recent meet Cub Scout Pack 92 met at Brookwood School with Cubmaster Roland Robertson and assistant Bob Turner in charge.

Flag ceremony was led by Larry Brown. New families were introduced including a group of eight cubs and their parents from Blvins. Mrs. Bob Turner's Den presented a skit on the Dowie Knife under the direction of Mrs. Ernest Bode. Mrs. Billy Mont's den gave a skit on facts about Arkansas with David Jones as reader.

Mrs. Ben Waller's den acted out a pantomime on "Coney At The Ball" with Sammy Strong reading. Bobcat pins went to:

Stephen Ray Turner, Edward Bode, William Byers, Gayle Dixon and David Morris; Silver Arrow Point under the Wolf Pins went to Allen Montis; Gold Arrow and two Silver Arrows under Bear to Larry Don Wright; Denner Badges to Allen Montis, Jim Robertson and Ken Rogers; Asst. Denner Badges to Mike Atkins, Phillip White and Sidney Hollis; Year Pins to Ken Rogers, Jerry Still, Mike Atkins and Larry Brown; left from last year were Bear awards to Phillip Lee White, two Silver Arrow Points under the Bear to Jackie Heast and Asst. Denner to Jim Robertson.

Italy Insulted by Gen. Montgomery

LONDON (AP)—Italy complained officially today it had been insulted by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery's war memoirs, and the British Foreign Office hastened to express regrets.

A Foreign Office statement emphasized, however, that the British government could not be held responsible for opinions expressed by an army officer in his personal capacity.

Montgomery wrote that Italian soldiers were "unavailable when it came to hard fighting." Then he described Italy's change of sides in World War II as "the biggest double-cross in history."

Group Purchases Grain Elevator

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A group of Jonesboro businessmen yesterday announced purchase of the grain elevator and storage facilities here of River Brand Rice Mills Inc.

The property, which covers a full block, includes six storage tanks and unloading and elevating equipment. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The Jonesboro group, incorporated as MidSouth Warehouse Co., plans to use the facilities for storage of 125,000 bushels of soybeans purchased from northeast Arkansas farmers.

River Brand suspended its operations here in the summer of 1957. The purchasers included Olan Barker, Jr., Henry J. Barker, Edward J. Cherry, Larry Burns, Dick Smith and E. L. Moore.

Women May Have Aided Plane Capture

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The rebel capture of a Cuban airliner and its 28 occupants may have been aided by arms-carrying women.

This possibility was raised today with the disclosure by a qualified informant that the 18 men passengers, but not the 10 women, were searched for arms before the Cuban Airline DC3 took off from Havana Wednesday for interior points in Oriente province.

Radio messages from the plane Thursday reported that it had landed at a rebel air strip in Oriente and that all aboard were safe.

Cubans announced Thursday night that it is stopping flights over rebel territory in the eastern province of Oriente, the center of activity by Fidel Castro's insurgents.

Many Reasons for Way the People Voted

By ED CREAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—A candidate's flashing smile, a lingering memory of past scandals, a worker out of a job, a boss who hated unions, a candidate who worked around the clock, another who sat on his chair cushion, split party organizations, John Foster Dulles.

Put them all together, add your own reason for voting as you did, throw in a couple of other factors at random and you have the kaleidoscopic explanation for Tuesday's election results.

Unquestionably there were some tides of opinion felt throughout most of the nation: the normal midterm wish for a change; some dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration's leadership or lack of it; strong union activity.

But in hardly any two states or congressional districts was the story the same. Sometimes identical factors produced opposite results.

This is shown by on-the-spot reports from Associated Press Bureaus in nine states which had contests of more than casual interest. The reports point to local men and local conditions more than to national issues or the determiners of victory or defeat.

Running down the list of these states:

NEW YORK—Biggest single factor undoubtedly was the emergence of Nelson A. Rockefeller as a spectacularly popular figure, a millionaire with a million-dollar smile, who came down from his skyscraper office, mingled with the voters, patted babies' heads, and beat the daylights out of his Democratic opponent, Gov. Averell Harriman.

"Rocky" — a nickname that would have appalled grandfather John D. — whisked Rep. Kenneth B. Keating into the Senate on his coattails. Ample campaign funds didn't hurt, of course.

CALIFORNIA — Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is well enough liked, but no glamor boy on the Rockefeller scale. Still, he won the governorship overwhelmingly for the Democrats, in large part because (1) his opponent, Sen. William F. Knowland, favored a right-to-work law and the unions mobilized to beat him, and (2) there was widespread resentment of the political hyplay which forced GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to abandon reelection hopes and run for the Senate instead. Knight lost too — to Rep. Clair Engle, A. Knowland-Knight feud hurt both men.

ARIZONA — Much union activity here to — against conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater. But a lot of it came from outside the state and a good many voters resented it. Besides, Goldwater waged a far more vigorous campaign than his opponent, Gov. Ernest McFarland. Result: Goldwater won and the Democratic tide was washed back again.

$4 Million to State for Construction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced yesterday it is releasing more than four million dollars for construction work at bases in Arkansas.

Rhyelville Air Force Base is to get $1,488,000 for airfield paving and construction of an instrument landing system facility, a ready-made building and utilities.

Little Rock Air Force Base is to get $3,008,000 for airfield paving and construction of a ready-made building, a storage building and utilities.

The money is part of 306 million dollars released for work at Air Force installations around the country.

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Maurice Terrance, a 19-year-old Camden Negro, was killed yesterday by a shotgun blast while hunting with three other boys. Deputy Sheriff Charles Gilchrist said the boys, exactly right, were about 10 years to the day after their first hunt to work for the company.

Air Force Fires Moon Shot: 3rd Stage No Good

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force launched its third moonrocket early today but failed to get it into outer space when its third stage misfired.

It rose only about 1,000 miles—only a fraction of the 220,000 mile distance to the moon.

The 5-ton rocket took off in perfect form at 2:30 a.m. EST.

Less than 10 minutes later, the Air Force reported that all the rocket's three main stages had fired. It said the launching "has now been accomplished."

But within a few minutes a radio test showed that the third stage failed to ignite.

In Washington, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said "At this time we don't know why the third stage did not fire."

NASA scientists studied data obtained from tracking stations and announced about two hours after the launching that the rocket reached an altitude of about 1,000 miles before falling back into the earth's atmosphere.

The agency said it entered the atmosphere over east central Africa—about 7,500 miles from Cape Canaveral—and burned up due to air friction.

Two more lunar probes have been authorized, both as Army projects. The initial Army attempts may be made in the first week in December, although there has been no official announcement in this regard.

A possible portent of trouble for the Air Force moon rocket — dubbed Pioneer II — came when its planned firing early Friday was postponed 25 hours because of technical trouble.

The first Air Force try fizzled on Aug. 17 when the big rocket blew up after 77 seconds of flight.

But on Oct. 11, a second 80-foot rocket traveled about 90,850 miles toward the moon before falling back into the atmosphere and burning up from friction.

Scientists had hoped to get to the distant rocket to within 50,000 miles of the moon and possibly into orbit around it.

Chances of Pioneer II being a success had been rated in advance at less than 1 in 10.

In its announcement, NASA said Pioneer II reached an estimated maximum speed of about 10,000 miles an hour—well below the 23,900 miles an hour scientists said was needed to send a rocket to the region of the moon.

A spokesman said the rocket probably flew slightly less than 45 minutes.

Although Pioneer II apparently failed in its major mission, it rose high enough for the automatic radio signals from the payload to be received for 10 minutes by a tracking station at Jodrell Bank in England. The signals were received between 2:45 and 3:01 a.m.

Teachers Are Against School Shutdown

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Education Assn., on record against any move to abolish the state's public schools, prepared today for more business aimed at the Capitol.

A move was expected to introduce a resolution asking the Legislature to repeal a 1957 law which prevents retired Arkansas teachers from drawing retirement pay while teaching in other states.

Author of the measure is P. C. Purviance of DeWitt. He said the resolution also will seek a 10 percent increase in the monthly benefits of retired teachers.

The association went on record yesterday through its Council on Education against abolishment of the public school system, a move that has been mentioned as a last resort effort to avoid racial integration.

The council is the association's policy making group. It pledged its support to the school system and suggested how educators could help.

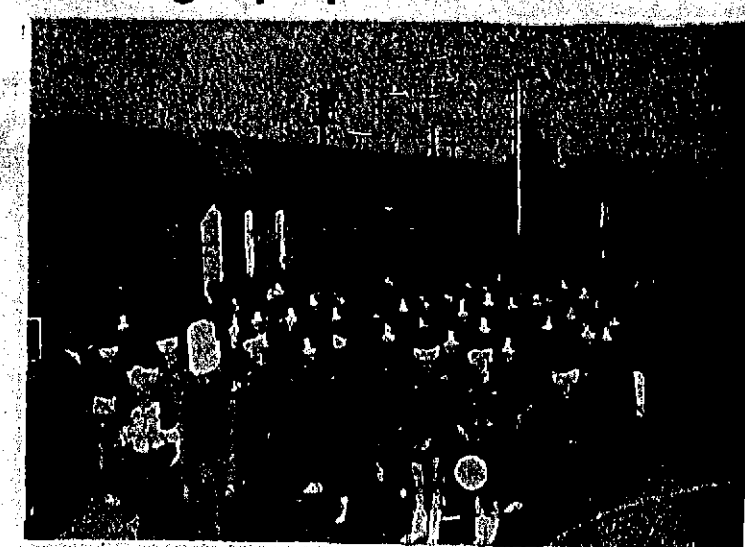

A plan was set up for committees to be appointed in each county to keep in touch with legislators during the 1959 General Assembly and check on the status of legislation affecting schools.

None of the reports submitted to the council mentioned the integration situation directly.

Forrest Rozzell, AEA executive secretary, said direct mention of the segregation-integration controversy was avoided because the association did not want to become involved in the dispute.

Question of Old Age May Be an Individual's Attitude

By MARY ANITA LASETER

At this writing, the weather is turning colder and Old Man Winter seems to be paying a visit which might be extended for quite a while. Why do we give this season of the year the tag, "Old Man?"

Some may feel that the description in itself carries a hint of the unpleasant. It is the last season before the end of a year's "life." But Old Man Winter also begins a new year, and it is the time for the rejection of Christmas.

So, it may be that it is up to an individual's attitude about such matters as age or seasons that really determines whether you like them or not. General Douglas MacArthur carried something of that same thought in a speech he made several years ago at Los Angeles, California. The general, who was 75 years of age at that time, said:

"Youth is not entirely a time of life — it is a state of mind. It is not wholly a matter of ripe cheeks, red lips, or supple knees. It is a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions, a freshness of the deep springs of life.

"Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old by deserting their ideals.

"Whatever your years, there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the undimmed challenge of events, the unfulfilled childlike appetite for what's next, and the joy and the game of life.

"You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your hope, as old as your despair.

"In the central place of every heart there is a recording chamber; so long as it receives messages of beauty, hope, cheer, and courage, so long are you young."

Thus said this national hero in 1955, and his words are true enough to be a one-way ticket for anyone to an eternal Fountain of Youth.

Cuban Rebels Deny Wreck Their Fault

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Fidel Castro, leader of Cuba's rebels, has disclaimed responsibility for the crash of a Cuban airliner last week that killed 17 persons.

In a broadcast from his mountain hideout in eastern Cuba, Castro said Thursday night that "even if it were true that some rebels were aboard, they were acting on their own" in setting the plane and forcing it to a crash landing.

The plane crashed in northern Cuba Saturday on a flight from Miami to Havana. Six naturalized U.S. citizens were among the dead.

The association went on record yesterday through its Council on Education against abolishment of the public school system, a move that has been mentioned as a last resort effort to avoid racial integration.

The council is the association's policy making group. It pledged its support to the school system and suggested how educators could help.

A plan was set up for committees to be appointed in each county to keep in touch with legislators during the 1959 General Assembly and check on the status of legislation affecting schools.

Hays Says Gov. Broke Promise In Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) charged yesterday that Gov. Orval Faubus broke a promise and supported Dr. Dale Alford for the Fifth District congressional post in Tuesday's election.

"The governor, for some reason I don't know, decided he did not want me in Congress," Hays said. "The veteran legislator said Faubus agreed last June to stay out of the campaign, and had made a written pledge to support the Democratic Party nominees in the general election.

"I do not know exactly what he did (in the campaign), but in the district it is not disputed by friend or foe that he was for my opponent," Hays told a news conference.

Alford entered the race a week before the election, campaigned largely on the school integration issue and won by about 1,200 votes. Hays is known as a moderate on racial issues.

Asked whether Faubus had insisted Alford's entry into the race, Hays said he did not know. But he pointed out that a close Faubus associate, Claude Carpenter Jr., managed Alford's campaign and said that "seems like sufficient evidence."

Faubus was en route to Crestview, Fla., for a speaking engagement and not available for comment.

Alford said his entry into the race "was entirely my own decision," and declined to comment on whether the governor had supported him.

Hays said he felt there might be some question as to the legality of Alford's procedure, but he would not contest the election. He added, however, that he hoped someone would contest the tactics used in order to prevent such "sneak attacks in the future."

He declined to speculate on his political future.

Faubus Says AEA Motion Was Ill-timed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that an Arkansas Education Assn. resolution calling for preservation of public schools was "ill-timed and unnecessary."

The governor made the statement in an appearance before the Arkansas Legislative Council which had invited Faubus to answer reports that the AEA resolution had been prepared in the governor's office.

"There is not the slightest shred of truth or fragment of proof of that," Faubus declared. "If anyone had attempted to write this in my office, they wouldn't have gotten past the first paragraph."

The AEA resolution, adopted yesterday, called for open schools even in the face of integration and set up a legislative watch to guard against abolishment of the public school system.

While the resolution did not specifically mention the integration crisis here, it was interpreted by many as a slap against Gov. Faubus, who closed Little Rock's high schools against integration.

Faubus said recently that he would oppose any legislative move to abolish the entire school system.

But today, the governor told the council that although he would support the public school program this did not mean that he favored "public schools at any price."

Some "far-fetched" situation might arise, he said, that would require the mass closing of schools. Faubus defined far-fetched as communism being taught in Arkansas schools.

U. S. China Make Talk Over Quemoy

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The United States and Communist China today renewed their diplomatic soundings aimed at easing the tension around Quemoy.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Red envoy Wang Jie-nan got together two weeks after the talks were suspended for a "think it over" period. Their last session coincided with announcements of the Communists' every other day ceasefires.

The Monsters Finally Got Him at Last

By RALPH DIGHTON

VAN NUSS, Calif. (AP)—The monsters finally got him—then it turned out they were more like angels.

That's the way it was with Maverick, the stray Doberman Pinscher who eluded bait traps and nets for four years. He almost drove the dogcatcher crazy before he was shot down with a tranquilizer dart.

He went to sleep and woke up in a cage. The two-legged beings who had harassed him all those years came to look and marvel and bid for the right to own him. One day the cage door opened and Maverick was driven away to a place that must be pretty close to a dog's idea of heaven.

He has his own bedroom, with an oil painting above his king-size bed. A veterinary prescribes his diet—all he can eat, three times a day. And he has two king-size playmates, Afghans Shoba and Sahib, to teach him the ways of civilization.

"Not that he needs much teaching," says his mistress, Mrs. Doris Crown, who paid $130 for Maverick at an auction last month. "It's not training that he needs, but pampering and he's getting it."

Life with Doris and Harry Crown is quite a change for Maverick, who used to sleep in alleys and raid garbage pails.

On the other hand, life with Maverick is quite a change for the Crowns.

"It's almost grounds for divorce," says Doris, a tall attractive blonde. She said her husband sometimes pays more attention to the dog than he does to her.

Despite some inconveniences, however, the Crowns figure Maverick is worth far more than he cost.

"We've had to give up our social life," says Doris. "You can't imagine how much money we've saved that way. And Harry has had to give up cigars because Maverick doesn't like them."

Doris and Harry have found they are healthier since Maverick came. Every morning and evening they take the dog for a stroll around their 2½-acre estate. It's the only way they can get him to exercise.

Maverick has attached himself to Harry like a leech, says Doris. "He doesn't know how to play by himself or with the other dogs. All he wants to do is stay right at Harry's side. If Maverick needs a walk, Harry has to take one too. So, to avoid losing Harry completely, I join them."

Miss Callas Triumphant at Dallas

By IRWIN FRANK

DALLAS (AP)—A triumphant Maria Callas was given a six-minute standing ovation Thursday night for her performance in the opera "Medea" just hours after she was fired from the New York Metropolitan Opera by Rudolf Bing.

She expressed pain and amazement at the action taken by the Met's general manager.

Bing Thursday canceled the singer's $19,000 contract for the 1958-59 season, citing her refusal to fulfill terms of the pact.

He accused the 35-year-old star of trying to force through a last-minute change of the repertoire agreed upon for the current Met season.

Miss Callas said she objected to singing two "Traviatas" or two "Lucias," both light roles, between performances of "Medea," a heavy part. She termed the alternation of roles "really dangerous technically."

Bing said ample rest had been provided between the roles. He wired Miss Callas last Wednesday, asking her to abide by the existing agreement. The telegram said her contract would be considered canceled if she did not reply by 10 a.m. Thursday.

Miss Callas did not reply. In Dallas she said she was too busy with dress rehearsals for Thursday night's "Medea" to answer what she called Bing's "ultimatum."

"I am shocked, sorry about the action taken by Mr. Bing," she said at a party after her performance.

This young housewife has learned to make her daily chores pay off in the terms of exercise that keeps her figure trim. Working with a mop (left) helps her to develop good posture since she must keep her back straight as she works. It also strengthens abdominal and back muscles. She uses small strokes, working to the left and right. Bending is part of daily routine and good for the waistline. When this housewife wipes off lower cabinets or refrigerator (center) with a sponge dipped into a special no-rinse cleanser, she never tires herself by bending from the waist. With feet apart, she bends knees, keeping her back straight. When she has to reach (right), she makes this a stretching exercise. This is good for shoulder muscles, too. She is careful to keep weight evenly distributed on both feet; this prevents fatigue.

DOROTHY DIX

Relatives Have No Claim For Free Room and Board

Dear Dorothy Dix:

When I graduated from college I came to the city and got a very good job. My brother followed me and later our sister came here, too. Last year we got tired trying to find an apartment big enough for all of us, and bought a house just out of town. At least we thought we were buying a house for us but what we actually were doing was setting up a free hotel. We have scads of aunts, uncles and cousins. Never a weekend passes but we aren't forced to play hosts to someone on a shopping spree. It never occurs to anyone to phone or write ahead. We have many invitations for a few days in the country and invariably have to turn them down at the last minute because of unexpected (and unwanted) visitors. We love our relatives—but not in our home every week. We're all working hard, trying to get ahead, and need our weekends for relaxation and recreation. Help please. — Anita S.

Dear Anita: Issue a general statement to the effect that you absolutely, positively will not be home on weekends. Pack your suitcases Friday morning, take them to work, and leave from your various offices. You might have one or two extra keys made and offer them to anyone who wants to use your house as a hotel (with out service), provided they give you enough time to forward the key. Be gracious hosts one week-end a month — or once in two months — and let it be known that this is entertaining time. Even so, insist on advance notice. Your relatives probably don't intend to be thoughtful. They've heard so much about lonely people in the big city that they're trying to cheer you up.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Al and I have been going for three months. Although I'm only 17, and he's 18, both our families approve. He's leaving next week for a three-year hitch in the Army. I feel that he should be free to go with other girls while he's away from home. I know he's not the kind of boy to go steady with a girl at home and at the same time run around with others. Should I hold him to this going-steady arrangement or let him be free? All I want is his happiness. — Glenda

Dear Glenda: It would be unfair to him, and you, to the unfair to a relationship that would outlaw other social activities. This I never approve. Let him have no restrictions other than those imposed by Uncle Sam.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I'm 14 and my folks insist on my going everywhere with them. I can't go anywhere on my own — not to dances, parties or shows. Instead, I must visit, go to the movies they like or on rides. — Lonesome

Dear Lonesome: At 14 a girl should be allowed some social life of her own but it is difficult to convince your parents of that. Perhaps the parents of your girl friends would have better luck. Get them to help.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I've been engaged to Bert for three years and do not love him. I have broken my engagement many times but he swears he will do something drastic if I don't take him back. I never have fun when I'm out with him. All we do is argue — chiefly about his drinking. — End of the Rope

Dear Sister: Break the engagement with finality this time and pay no attention to the drastic threats. He'll drown them in drink.

The Heart of Darkness Hard to Put on TV

By WILLIAM EWALD United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—I had the feeling on re-reading "Heart of Darkness" recently that it was an impossible piece to transfer to the TV screen.

After watching the CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" treatment of the Joseph Conrad story Thursday night, I still have that feeling. However, this may be unfair because "Playhouse 90" didn't do "Heart of Darkness" so much as it did something that might be called "Variations on a Theme by Joseph Conrad."

Stewart Stern, writer of the TV play, performed a strange operation on the Conrad novel. He padded it and turned it inside out. Conrad's story dealt with a voyage up the Congo and into the heart of Africa. Conrad was working with twilight meanings — unformulated, inconclusive — and what he seemed to imply was that the journey was one into evil and perhaps into the heart of man itself.

What Stern did was to take Conrad's implications and bawl them loud and often so that the dullest member of the audience could keep the play's "meaning." And conversely, he took Conrad's real physical world (where symbols were suggested) and changed it into a symbol world (where reality was hardly ever suggested).

As a result, "Playhouse 90" churned out a kind of Pilgrim's Progress cabinet of Dr. Caligari where nightmarish little lessons were ready for the learning at each stop. It was almost impossible to feel any contact with the proceedings—it was a little like watching the lecture of a talented lunatic through the bottom of two martinis glasses.

Roddy McDowell, as a gentleman pursued by the furies, turned in a performance that packed fire and starts of excellence. Ingrid Stevens looked lovely and acted fairly lovely. Eartha Kitt was, to put it kindly, inadequate. Boris Karloff was there.

The Channel Swim: CBS-TV's Arthur Godfrey has had such favorable response to his chats this week with Jackie Gleason that he will talk with a succession of guests all next week on his morning show. — Victor Borge, John Crosby, Fayne Emerson, Jessica Candy and Hume Cronyn. Gleason will appear on the Godfrey evening CBS-TV show Nov. 11.

Art Carney will star in a CBS-TV "Playhouse 90" drama by Rod Seiberling in January. — Victor Borge has booked in dancer Alina Markova as guest on his one hour CBS-TV special Nov. 29.

The NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show," originally scheduled for two weeks in Hollywood, will remain an additional week — Bob Hope and Oscar Levant will make return guest spots.

Mike's Rooney will be the sole member of the cast of "Radio City" on NBC-TV. "Charlie Weave" will be the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show." It is compiling a book, "Let's From Mama," which will be published next spring. The revamped CBS-TV "Garry Moore Show" is junking its old theme song, "Tonight, Tonight," in favor of an original, "Thanks For Prompting By." — NBC-TV shows scored an almost complete triumph in the Wednesday night Trenders ratings—CBS-TV's "I've Got A Secret" was the only exception to the sweep.

Texas after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John House and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dewdney and children have returned to their home in Dallas, Texas after being called here due to the death of his father, John Dewdney.

Refugees Have a Right to Be Protected

NEW YORK (AP) — Refugees

from the 1956 Hungarian revolution who came to this country without visas have a right to full protection of the U.S. Constitution, the U.S. Court of Appeals has ruled.

A government contention that such refugees could be deported without a hearing was overruled by the court Thursday in a 2-1 decision.

The court held that the Hungarian refugees have a special status, because they were invited to come here under U.S. foreign policy as announced by President Eisenhower.

In normal cases, aliens residing here while in the technical custody of the attorney general may be deported through revocation of their parole by the attorney general.

The ruling involved the case of Gyula Paktorovics, 44, a former Hungarian army captain who is now living in Baltimore with his wife, Szeren, 44, and their two daughters. He is a milkman.

Some time after the family's arrival here as refugees, immigration officials learned that Paktorovics had been a member of the Communist party after his release from a concentration camp in 1953.

Immigration officials, charging that the refugee had concealed the Communist party membership, revoked his parole on Aug. 14, 1957. Paktorovics has denied any concealment.

The entire family was ordered deported to Austria. The family sought a writ of habeas corpus to halt the deportation. The government, shifting tactics, then dropped that phase of the case and acted against the family on the ground that they lacked visas.

The new issue was taken before U.S. Dist. Judge Irving R. Kaufman here. He granted a writ of habeas corpus to Mrs. Paktorovics and the children and they were thus enabled to stay in this country. The judge ruled, however, that the attorney general had the right to revoke the husband's parole.

The decision by the appeals court sends the case back to the Immigration and Naturalization Service for a full hearing.

This year, legislation gave the refugees status as permanent residents—instead of parolees—after approval by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. In their new status, they later will be able to start proceedings to become citizens.

The case ruled on Thursday was started before enactment of the residence legalization, and Paktorovics has not been granted status as permanent resident.

BIGGEST TANKER

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The Samsinsea, 800,000-ton tanker and the largest ever built in the United States, has a beam wider than the inner United States — 104 feet against 101½. Built for the Union Oil Co., the vessel will be 810 feet long and its capacity will be 490,000 barrels of oil.

Democrats Face Problems Next 2 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats had better watch their steps.

They're riding high after Tuesday's elections, with visions of a repetition in 1960. But they face problems these next two years. So does President Eisenhower in dealing with them.

These past two years the Democrats have outnumbered the Republicans 49-47 in the Senate, and 285-200 in the House. In the next two years they outnumber them 52 to 34 in the Senate, and at least 285 to about 153 in the House.

With these overriding majorities in both houses they'll be in a far better position to shape and put through the kind of programs they want. And if Eisenhower falters in his leadership, they may wind up doing most of the leading.

But these big majorities mean they'll also have to take more responsibility for any failures to put through Congress the things the people want. When their margin over the Republicans was smaller, the two parties could blame each other for what went wrong.

By the same token, of course, the Democrats can claim more credit for the good things. It would seem that by sticking together on programs with voter support, the Democrats can grease their way towards the 1960 elections.

But the balance among the Democrats — between Southern conservatives and more liberal Northerners and Westerners — was changed Tuesday in favor of the latter.

This may mean sharper in-fighting between the two groups, and it certainly will in the field of civil rights. The spectacle of Democrats split and wrangling won't increase their 1960 appeal.

And no matter how good the Democrats' legislative record is these next two years, there's still a chance the party will split wide open at the 1960 convention over civil rights.

If that happens — if the Southerners walk out or rally around a third-party in the South — the door is opened for a Republican victory. The Southern members of Congress will think twice before letting that happen. For this reason:

In this Democratic Congress Southerners hold a majority of the committee chairmanships, which are prize plums. They'd lose the chairmanships if the Republicans won.

From the standpoint of party harmony the Democrats are lucky to have as their leaders — Sen. Lyndon Johnson in the Senate and Speaker Sam Rayburn in the House — two Texans who are two of the best congressional generals in this century.

They're real pros. If anyone could keep the party rolling smoothly, they should. But it's going to be tougher for them to call the shots these next two years than in the past two, because they have more Democrats to handle now.

Because of their Tuesday victory the Democrats — if they stick together — are in a more dominant position than in any Congress since early New Deal days to tell the president what kind of programs he can have, and how much.

For just the reason Eisenhower — if he hopes to get his programs through — will have to work even harder at getting along with the Democrats. He's been pretty successful at it ever since they took control of Congress in 1954.

But, since he'll have to try to get along, he won't be in a position to play partisan politics with the Democrats. So the Republicans, if they hope to find leadership that will carry them to victory in 1960, must look elsewhere than to Eisenhower these next years.

And Vice President Nixon, even though he's presidential ambitions can't very well take a rough ride with the Democrats while Eisenhower plays it nice. The Democrats are not dumb enough to stand for a doubleplay at their expense.

Hurray for youth!...the juveniles of our community. Let us, during national youth week, honor the 95% of our young people who are law-abiding citizens and will be the dependable community men and women of tomorrow. God help the small minority (only 5%) referred to as delinquents. They are the ill-advised, law-breaking thugs who glory in character assassination and destruction of public property.

Optimist Clubs International are leading in the crusade to give the good youngsters of our world their rightful place in the sun. May this huge army of juveniles not forget that the church on the corner will aid greatly in helping them keep their feet on the right road.
